

Science & evidence-based delivery area

Planned activities

Contributing to agency key result targets

Monitoring & evaluation

- National survey on the incidence of foodborne illness in the community
- National survey on trans fats content of targeted food groups
- Snapshot local surveys on smallgoods, GM
- Shellfish harvest area classifications

Fewer people get ill & injured through eating food

Research collaboration

- Alternative typing methods for Salmonella
- New detection methods for marine biotoxins

Issues management

- Technical / science input to risk management decisions

Standards & regulation

- Risk assessments and program evaluations for the remaking of NSW food regulations
- Participation in national working groups, committees, standards and regulatory scheme development

Reputable, safe & competitive NSW food industry

Industry engagement

- Technical / science input to risk management, training, education

Consumer & community education / advice

- Contributions to industry newsletter, alerts, and issues management communications
- Science page established on website

Consumers make informed choices

Enhanced educational capacity & service

- Form strategic linkages with universities
- Foster student placements / work experience
- Pursue staff secondments

Sustainable workforce with a knowledge culture